Valentine's Day!

Valentine's Day in the United States is celebrated on February 14. It is a festival of romantic love and many people give cards, letters, flowers or presents to their spouse or a partner. They may also arrange a romantic meal in a restaurant or night in a hotel. Common symbols of Valentine's Day are hearts, red roses and the Cupid.

What do people do?

Many people celebrate their love for their partner by sending cards or letters, giving gifts or flowers and arranging meals in restaurants or romantic nights in hotels. People who would like to have a romantic relationship with somebody may use the occasion to make this known, often anonymously. Valentine's cards are often decorated with images of hearts, red roses or the Cupid. Common Valentine's Day gifts are flowers, chocolates, candies, lingerie and champagne or sparkling wine. However, some people use the occasion to present lavish gifts, such as jewellery. Many restaurants and hotels have special offers at this time. These can include romantic meals or weekend breaks.

Public life.

Valentine's Day is not a public holiday. Government offices, stores, schools and other organizations are open as usual. Public transport systems run on their regular schedule. Restaurants may be busier than usual as many people go out for an evening with their spouse or a partner. Valentine's Day is also a very popular date for weddings.

Background.

There are numbers of Saints called Valentines who are honored on February 14. The day became associated with romantic love in the Middle Ages in England. This may have followed on from the Pagan fertility festivals that were held all over Europe as the winter came to an end. Traditionally, lovers exchanged hand written notes. Commercial cards became available in the mid nineteenth century.

Symbols.

The most common Valentine's Day symbols are the heart, particularly in red and pink, and pictures or models of the Cupid. The Cupid is usually portrayed as a small winged figure with a bow and arrow. In mythology, he uses his arrow to strike the hearts of people. People who have fallen in love are sometimes said to be 'struck by the Cupid's arrow.'
